

Contents

Tables and illustrations

Acknowledgements

Acronyms and abbreviations

Introduction

Chapter 1. Origins of a prejudice:the roots of racial discrimination

- The discovery of human variety:early formulations
- The emergence of ‘modern’ racism
- Racialism under attack

Chapter 2. Discourse, images, knowledge:the place of the colonies and their populations in the Portuguese Colonial Empire

- The formation of Portuguese colonialism and ‘colonial knowledge’
- The Colonial Act and the ‘creation’ of the Indígena
- Colonial propaganda:‘marketing the empire’
- Colonial representations in primary and secondary school readers
- Cinema and colonialism in action:moving pictures on colonial themes (1928-53)
- Recurrent images and prejudices
- The production of ‘anthropological knowledge’ of the colonies
- Racial purity, miscegenation and the appropriation of myths

Chapter 3. Exhibiting the empire, imagining the nation:representations of the colonies and the overseas Portuguese in the great exhibitions

- The age of the great exhibitions
- Representations of the Portuguese colonies, 1924-31
- A ‘Guinean village’ at the Lisbon Industrial Exhibition (1932)
- The Portuguese Colonial Exhibition of 1934:concept and objectives
- Representations of the Portuguese colonies, 1934-39
- The Exhibition of the Portuguese World (1940):concept and objectives
- Colonial representations in Portugal dos Pequenitos
- The status of the colonized populations at the exhibitions: the exotic vs. the familiar

Conclusions

Appendix I: Film

Appendix II: Texts from the padrões of Portugal dos Pequenitos

Bibliography